The CloudBlue Connect platform can be used to find new products for your organization and start collaborating with new business partners. Use the Catalog module to access detailed information on products that are available for referral programs and syndication scenarios.

Direct contracts (also called referral contracts) are required to establish and manage direct business relationship with Vendors of products that are available via a product catalog. Specifically, Distributors can use direct contracts to start collaborating with new Vendors and list selected products within their marketplaces for subsequent distribution operations.

The following introduces the Pennino Inc distributor organization that wants to acquire the Cyabra social search engine. This product is presented and provided by Mighty Mick's LLC that has already created all required agreements for referral operations. Follow the guidelines below to enroll a direct contract.

Prerequisites

To successfully enroll a direct agreement on Connect, make sure that the following requirements are met:

- Your hub and marketplace are created.
- Create a program agreement to start working with new Vendors.
- Define your distribution agreement to establish terms of accessing your marketplace.

Pennino Inc successfully registered a hub with associated marketplace. Furthermore, this organization created a new generic program agreement and distribution agreement by using the Partners module.

Catalog Overview

Access the Catalog module to locate a product that will be used to enroll a new direct contract. Note that if your organization collaborates with multiple Distributors on Connect, the system will prompt to select a Distributor first.
