Distribution Contracts

Vendors and Distributors require a distribution contract to outline terms and conditions for product distribution. Namely, signed distribution contracts allows provisioning Vendor products via Distributor marketplaces. Distribution contracts are associated with Distribution Agreements that should be also created and activated on the Connect platform.

State Flow

A distribution contract between a Distributor and Vendor changes its state as follows:

1. Enrolling: This state indicates that a Vendor enrolls a distribution agreement (from the Agreements tab of the Partners module). Thus, the platform creates a contract and assigns the Enrolling state to it. Thereafter, the system will change its status to Pending. In case Distributors create Custom Forms , Vendors should specify required information before enrolling their contract.
2. Pending: This state indicates that a Vendor enrolled a distribution agreement and a distribution contract. Therefore, this contract is pending to be activated or rejected by a Distributor. Note that Distributors can also ask Vendors to complete an attached custom form once again by clicking the Refined Data button.
3. Active: Once a Distributor approves a distribution contract, the system assigns this status to this contract.
4. Terminated: In case a Distributor terminates an active distribution contract, the system assigns the corresponding status to this contract.
5. Rejected: If a Distributor rejected a pending distribution contract, the system transfers this contract to the Rejected state.

Note

Distribution agreements are also generated by Provides during the partner creation via the Partners module. Therefore, distribution contracts can be activated automatically if the Auto Accept option from the distribution agreement details screen is enabled. In this case, the state flow of distribution contracts is different. Namely, Vendors don't need to enroll automatically accepted distribution contracts and Distributors are not required to approve (or reject) these contracts. However, Distributors can still terminate these distribution contracts.

Vendor Portal

Enrolling Contracts

If the Auto Accept option is disabled, Vendors need to manually enroll their distribution agreement and a new distribution contract. In this case, an associated program contract should be signed by Vendors and a distribution agreement should be created by Distributors. Follow the steps below to create and enroll your distribution contract.

1. Proceed to the Partners module and navigate to the Agreements tab.
2. Click the Enroll action button from your distribution agreement.

3. Review your agreement and check the I have read and accepted the agreement checkbox.

4. Click Enroll to enroll your distribution agreement and consequently enroll your distribution contract.

As a result, the system creates a distribution contract and transfers it along with your distribution agreement to the Pending state. Thereafter, Distributors can approve or reject this pending distribution contract. Once your distribution contract will be approved, your distribution agreement will be also activated.
